Packets leaving yesterday had fair trips out.

Pliots John Moriedge and James Pell are at the wheel of the J. M. White.

The Phil Allin went out for Arkansas City jesterday in place of the A. J. White, which packet is in the hands of the repairers.

The Maumelle failed to get away for Arkansas clear Themsian graphy, as advertised, but skipped the hands of the repairers.

The Maumelle failed to get away for Arkansas river Tuesday evening, as advertised, but skipped out like a scared wolf about noon yesterday.

The lighthouse-tender steamer Alice, Captain Crapster, passed south yesterday, on a paying-off expedition. She Turnishes the APPRAL with a list of changes in lights between Memphis and St. Louis, which is printed below.

Charles B. Martin, who owns the bar privileges on the Oscola Belie and West Wind, in the upper bend trade, left yesterday for a cruise of pleasure eastward. He will take in all the fashionable watering-places, and return when the fall business opens up.

The only packet advertised to leave this port today is to at superb steamer—the finest in the world—the J. M. White, of which we gave a few of her important features yesterday. The advent of great men and great things generally is always preceded by grand flourishes of what they are to do, but this splendid specimen of marine architecture comesdown almost unheralded, although we learn that a noted up-river marine chronologer was employed for the especial purpose of "writing her up." His effusion has not yet reached us, and we are not prepared to join in her songs of praise. However, it is sufficient for us to say that her like was never before seen on f.esh water, which will attract thousands to the river to-day to behold her greatness. She is commanded by her owner, Captain John W. Tobin. We have no means of knowing who are the other officers. She was built at Louisville at a cost of one hundred thousand dollars. She is advertised to pass down at five o'clock this evening, and her agent here. Captain Washington, invites all our citizens to visit her while she remains at the Lee wharfboat.

Much Needed Amendments to the St. Louis Times, Tuesday: A meeting took place yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Marine Engineers' association, to discuss and take action apon the proposed amendments of the steamboat put in an appearance.

M. J. Connelly occupied the chair, and the follow ing steamboatmen were present: Messrs. Scott, Juchanan, William Fry, Jr., Bigley, Tolle, and Gal lier.

Af. Scatt hieldly explained the proposed amendments, offered in the interests of the steamboatmen and the public generally, as affecting the safety of life and property. These amendments will be printed and circulated in due course; they are in substance, however, as follows:

1. Supervisors of steam vessels shall not be eligible for appointment unless they possess practical knowledge of steamboat management, based upon an experience of not less than five years service as captain or other leading officer of a steam vessel. The appointment shall be perfectly free from political considerations.

2. The qualification for appointment of a local in-

2. The qualification for appointment of a local in-spector shall be based upon an experience of not less than five years service as captain, mate, pilot or engineer of a steam vessel.

3. An inspector shall be appointed for Cairo and district in view of its importance as a river point.

4. All boilers shall be provided with a gauge-cock not lower than four inches above the top of the flue.

5. The first or renewal itemse of a captain, mate, engineer or pilot, shall be granted only upon the certificate of a committee of investigation, composed of men of practical experience in steamboat manhan five years service as captain, mate, pilot or enof men of practical experience in steamboat management. They shall examine the applicant concerning his general habits and knowledge of steamboat business, and the license shall not issue unless the applicant has proven that he is thoroughly conversant with the duties of the position for which he socks a license.

6. Every licensed officer of a steamboat shall keep a jox containing observations of navigation, to be a log containing observations of navigation, to be deposited at the stations of the signal service de partment.
7 Licenses shall not issue to alien engineers or 7 Licenses shall not issue to alien engineers or pilots.
8. A restraining clause shall be inserted in the steamboat bill providing for certain clear-water space, as a check upon the overloading system.
9. All licensed officers shall be required to serve on committees charged with the examination of an applicant for license or upon trial committees.

The foregoing amendments were carefully explained by Mr. Scott, and adopted by the meeting. The present system of licensing officers was stigmatized as a "broad farce."

Amendments were offered and adopted in the interest of steamboat owners, the one having reference to the responsibility clause proportionate to the individual interest in the property, and the other terest of steamboat owners, the one having reference to the responsibility clause proportionate to the individual interest in the property, and the other providing that the certificate of an inspector shall be accepted as prima facie evidence.

The steamboatmen have another project on foot. At present the law authorizes deductions of forty cents per month from the pay of river men to maintain the relief fund. They now propose that the assessment shall be lifty cents per month and that the government shall be asked to grant two hundred acres of ground at Jefferson barracks for the erection of a hospital for disabled seamen.
